
MAMMAL REVIEW

Volume 23, 1993

Published for the Mammal Society by Blackwell Scientific Publications

OXFORD LONDON EDINBURGH BOSTON
MELBOURNE PARIS BERLIN VIENNA

Contents

Volume 23, Number 1, March 1993

- 1 Estimating the impact of past persecution and habitat changes on the numbers of Badgers
Meles meles in Britain
P. Reason, S. Harris and P. Cresswell
- 16 Book Reviews
- 17 The status of the Badger Meles meles (L. 1758) (Carnivora, Mustelidae) in Europe
H. I. Griffiths and D. H. Thomas
- 59 Fluctuations in the Dutch Badger Meles meles population between 1960 and 1990
J. Wiertz

Volume 23, Number 2, June 1993

- 65 The European Pine Marten Martes martes in the Balearic Islands, Spain
A. P. Clevenger
- 73 Population regulation in the Wood Mouse Apodemus sylvaticus (L.)
W. L. Wilson, W. I. Montgoimery and R. W. Elwood
- 93 Caching behaviour of Red Squirrels Sciurus vulgaris under conditions of high food availability
S. B. Rice-Oxley

Volume 23, Numbers 3/4, September/December 1993

Towards 2000: the future of British Mammals. Mammal Society Symposium, 28 November 1992

- 101 Habitat fragmentation – problems and predictions for British mammals
P. W. Bright
- 112 Book Review
- 113 The wider countryside – principles underlying the responses of mammals to heterogeneous environments
C. P. Doncaster & J. R. Krebs
- 121 The impact of land-use change on voles and raptors
M. L. Gorman & P. Reynolds
- 127 A critical look at conserving the British Red Squirrel Sciurus vulgaris
J. Gurnell & H. Pepper
- 138 Book Review
- 139 The growth and development of bat conservation in Britain
A. J. Mitchell-Jones, A. M. Hutson & P. A. Racey
- 149 Seals and epizootics – what factors might affect the severity of mass mortalities?
P. M. Thompson & A. J. Hall
- 155 Recovery plans for British mammals of conservation importance, their design and value
D. J. Jefferies & A. J. Mitchell-Jones
- 167 British mammals – their status, research needs and likely future
P. A. Morris
- 177 Book Reviews

